Australian Bands

in 70s and 80s

The Beatles (John, Paul, George and Ringo) embark on their solo careers which continue until John Lennon's assassination in 1980 and George's passing from cancer in 2001. Ringo and Paul still going as of 2024.

Rod Stewart embarks on a successful solo career following his role as lead singer of both the Jeff Beck Band and The Faces. As of 2024 he is still performing.

The 1970s also saw the continuation of artists such as Bob Dylan, Bee Gees, Neil Diamond, Neil Young, Van Morrison, The Rolling Stones, The Who, Traffic, Elvis Presley, Steve Miller Band, Joe Cocker and Santana.

Further, the 70s saw the rise of more complex and heavier music with bands such as Yes, Pink Floyd, Jethro Tull, Led Zeppelin, King Crimson, Deep Purple, Black Sabbath, Roxy Music, Uriah Heep, Alice Cooper and Emerson Lake and Palmer.

The singer-songwriters entrenched themselves with the likes of Cat Stevens, Carole King, Joni Mitchell, James Taylor, Dolly Parton, Don McLean, Jimmy Buffett and Elton John.

The Doors came to an end with the death of lead singer Jim Morrison in 1971. The same year Creedence Clearwater Revival folded as a result of major internal friction and the departure of lead singer and songwriter John Fogerty.

The album was the big thing with singles just pushing album sales. Also there would be a distinction between Singles Charts (which were more pop ABBA, Smokie, Dr Hook, The Carpenters, Simon and Garfunkel, Bread, Jackson 5, Tony Orlando and Dawn, Donny Osmond) and Album Charts (which were more Rock eg Pink Floyd, Led Zeppelin, Yes, Jethro Tull, Santana). Hence the concept of the one hit wonder. But obviously there artists that were successful in both charts (Linda Ronstadt, Eagles, America, Elton John, John Denver, David Bowie, Stevie Wonder, Slade, The Rolling Stones, ABBA).

Glam rock became a term with T-Rex, Mott The Hoople, Wizzard, Sweet, New York Dolls, Slade, Kiss and Roxy Music. This was all to do with heavy use of make-up.

David Bowie introduced a more sophisticated genre with space themes and a variety of charismatic characters such as Ziggy Stardust.

The USA saw the arrival of Country Rock / West Coast Sound (smooth and melodic) with Eagles, America, Linda Ronstadt, Seals and Croft, Loggins and Messina and Emmylou Harris.

The 70's would also see the birth of two new genres, DISCO midway through the decade (dance based predominantly from 1974 through to 1977) and PUNK towards the end of the decade, kicking in hard from 1977.

Punk truly arrived in 1977 with the advent of anti-establishment band the Sex Pistols. Punk was aggressive music and the fans exhibiting fashion with razor blades and safety pins and mohawk haircuts. Other bands to appear from this movement were The Clash, The Jam, The Stranglers, The Police, Elvis Costello, The Damned, Generation X (Lead singer Billy Idol), Ian Dury and the Blockheads, X-Ray Spex, Television, Siouxsee and the Banshees, Tubeway Army, Ultravox (all English) while the USA generated Ramones, Dead Kennedys, Blondie, Graham Parker, Talking Heads, The Runaways, New York Dolls, Patti Smith, The Tubes. The earliest exponents of this genre were from the USA Iggy Pop and the Stooges(1967) and MC5(formed in 1963 with debut & live album in 1969 "Kick Out The Jams"). As it became less aggressive it would come to be called New Wave and some New Romantic. Another genre to become popular as an adjunct was Ska with the likes of Madness, The Specials, British Beat, The Selecter and Bad Manners - all English.

Musically Australia was still in its infancy with good artists such as Blackfeather, Sherbet, Daddy Cool, Chain, Billy Thorpe, Spectrum, The Masters Apprentices, Russell Morris, Richard Clapton, Marcia Hines, Ol 55, Stars and Dingoes. Richard Clapton proved himself to be a brilliant songwriter, with great songs from the outset, displayed on his debut album Prussian Blue in 1973.

1974 saw the arrival of debut albums from Skyhooks along with ACDC (1974), Dragon (1976), LRB(1976), Jo Jo Zep and the Falcons(1977), The Angels (1977) and then in 1978 from Cold Chisel, Midnight Oil, Mondo Rock, Rose Tattoo and The Sports with InXs recording their debut album and getting ready for a 1980 release. And yes, Australia had truly arrived on the music scene with great bands. With the onset of PUNK, Australia had iconic groups Radio Birdman (1977) and The Saints (1977).

Reggae music came to prominence in 1973 with Bob Marley and the Wailers.

International music started charting with Golden Earing (The Netherlands), ABBA (Sweden) and Osibisa (Ghana)

ABBA (Agnetha, Benny, Bjorn, Ani-Frid), formed in 1972. Following their win at Eurovision in 1974 with song "Waterloo" they would become global superstars. Australia was the first country in the world to seriously take notice of them. They would have a string of top 10 and number 1 hits from 1974 to 1982. They would become one of the best-selling music artists in history. Numerous tribute bands appeared on the scene including Bjorn Again and Abbalanche from Australia. Relaunching and cementing their lifelong legend status with the release of a stage musical "Mama Mia" based around their songs which premiered at London West End theatre, the Prince Edward on April 6, 1999. Subsequently, in 2008, it became a movie with Meryl Streep, Pierce Brosnan and Colin Firth.

England saw the rise of a new genre influenced by traditional (folk) English music "Folk Rock" – Fairport Convention, Steeleye Span, Renaissance Jethro Tull, John Martyn. Of these Jethro Tull was more rock, while the others leaned more towards their folk influences.

One of the biggest bands to emerge was English band Fleetwood Mac [(who had been around for at least 10 years with various lineups but two core members John McVie (bass) & Mick Fleetwood(drums)] in 1975 with their new lineup featuring Americans, Stevie Nicks and Lindsay Buckingham. This lineup would launch them into super stardom.

Other major bands / artists to appear included from the USA included Little Feat, Bruce Springsteen with debut album in 1973, Billy Joel in 1977, Tom Petty (1976), John Denver(1974 with his 7th album "Back Home Again"), John Cougar Mellencamp(1978) and the brilliant Steely Dan, Michael Jackson (1979 with release of 5th album "Off The Wall" would become a phenomenon)while in England there was Genesis (Peter Gabriel on lead vocals and Phil Collins on drums with Phil later taking over lead vocals on the departure of Peter Gabriel), Queen in 1975 with the release of Bohemian Rhapsody (on their third album A Day at the Races"), Supertramp (1974), 10CC(1975), Dire Straits (1978).

1977 would see the release of one of the biggest selling albums of all time Meatloaf's "Bat out of Hell" (around 43 million #7) along with Pink Floyd's Dark Side of the Moon (1973 – 45 million #4), Eagles "Hotel California" (1976 – 40 million #8), Fleetwood Mac "Rumours" (1977 – 40 million #10), Bee Gees "Saturday Night Fever (1977 – 40 million #11), Eagles "Greatest Hits (1976 – 44 million #6) Michael Jackson's "Thriller" (1982 – 100 million #1), AC DC "Back in Black" (1980 – 50 million #2, Michael Jackson "Bad" (1987 – 45 million #5). As you can see most of the top selling albums occurred during the 70s or were achieved by 70s artists in the 80s. The other two to reach 40 million or more were Shania Twain in 1997 with "Come on Over" and Whitney Houston with "The Bodyguard" soundtrack in 1992.

At the close of the decade, 1979 would also see the revival and re-invigoration of 60s icon Cliff Richard's career with the release of "We Don't Talk Anymore" #1 UK and #7 USA, #3 Australia and a string of hits to follow Carrie (1979) #4 UK, Dreamin(1980) #8 UK, #10 USA, #4 Australia, A Little in Love (1980) #15 UK, Wired For Sound (1981) #4 UK, #2 Australia, #71 USA. An earlier hit in Devil Woman (1976) - #6 in USA, #9 UK, #3 Australia had not resulted in the same continuous stream of hits.

Also by the end of the 70s, Disco was dead and Punk was just another music category.

New Wave, Punk Period - late 70s and early 80s - includes New Romantic and Ska

Started to emerge in the period 1974 - 1976 and kicked in really strongly in 1978. Punk followers were usually more aggressive and their fashion was very dark and almost evil looking. Punk seemed to transition into the smoother and sometimes more electronic New Wave and finally New Romantic appeared during the 80's. However, New Romantic tended to be more about the fashion than the music. Punk really launched from Britain, in spite of a couple of earlier exponents in the USA – Iggy Pop and the Stooges & MC5.

Legendary US club CBGBs - birth place for so many US punk and new wave bands

Of the 70s punk bands, the best of them are probably The Clash, Ramones, Sex Pistols, Iggy Pop & the Stooges, The Stranglers.

There were others, who were exceptional, that were grouped into the punk era but they were not really aggressively punk - these included Elvis Costello, Graham Parker and the Rumour, The Boomtown Rats, The Jam.

UK - Punk: Sex Pistols, The Clash, Elvis Costello, The Stranglers, The Boomtown Rats, Ian Dury and the Blockheads, X-Ray Spex, Graham Parker and the Rumour, Generation X (Billy Idol), Wreckless Eric, Buzzcocks, Jona Lewie, Lene Lovich, Violent Femmes, The Jam

UK - New Wave: Orchestral Manoeuvres In The Dark, The Cure, Siouxsee and the Banshees, Joy Division, Magazine, The Psychedelic Furs, Echo and the Bunnymen, Tubeway Army, China Crisis, The Vapors, Fischer-Z, Gary Numan, New Order

UK-SKA: The Specials, UB40, The Selector, British Beat, Madness

UK - New Romantic: Adam and the Ants, Spandau Ballet, Duran Duran, Thompson Twins, Simple Minds, Flock Of Seagulls, ABC, Haircut 100, Culture Club

UK - Pop New Wave: UK Squeeze, The Pretenders, Joe Jackson, The Police, XTC, Dr Feelgood

USA - Punk: Dead Kennedys, Iggy Pop & the Stooges, The Tubes, Patti Smith, Ramones, MC5

Australia's music industry really grew from the late 70s into the 80s, both in number and quality.

Australian and New Zealand Artists in the 70s

Australian music flourished in 70s and 80s in both number and quality .

Initial artists to emerge in the early 70s (of these only John Farnham continued): Daddy Cool, La De Das, Zoot, Blackfeather, Brian Cadd, Country Radio, Jeff St John, Spectrum, Healing Force, John Farnham

And then came

Dragon, AC/DC, Ayers Rock, Cold Chisel, Dingoes, Skyhooks, Sherbet, Russell Morris, John Williamson, Olivia Newton John, Ted Mulry, Rick Springfield, Richard Clapton, Renee Geyer, Stevie Wright, Anne Kirkpatrick, The Angels, The Saints, Marcia Hines, Little River Band, Air Supply, Jimmy and the Boys, Midnight Oil, Mental As Anything, Rose Tattoo, Mondo Rock, The Sports, John English, John Paul Young, Jo Jo Zep and the Falcons, Stars, Goanna, Icehouse, InXs, The Go Betweens, Radio Birdman, Australian Crawl, The Dugites, Matt Finish, Men At Work, The Models, Moving Pictures, The Radiators, The Choirboys, The Cockroaches, Dynamic Hepnotics, The Swingers

AC/DC: It's A Long Way To The Top; TNT; Dirty Deeds; Highway To Hell; Let There Be Rock; Back In Black; Hells Bells; Thunderstruck; High Voltage; Jailbreak; You Shook Me All Night Long;

Cold Chisel: Khe Sanh; Cheap Wine; Breakfast At Sweethearts; Choirgirl, Forever Now; When The War Is Over; Bow River;

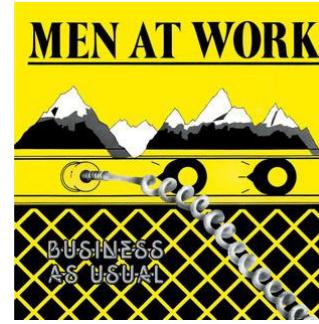

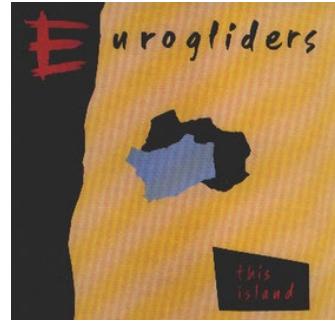

Postscript

Australian bands of the 70s and 80s were outstanding, and in some cases, eclipsed their international counterparts. Although they were hugely successful in Australia, gaining success overseas was very difficult. Bee Gees, InXs, Kylie Minogue and AC/DC gained that success. InXs and Kylie mostly in UK. Another band Air Supply gained success in the USA. While Bee Gees, Olivia Newton John and AC/DC became global giants. Yothu Yindi signed to US label Hollywood Records but then seemed to fade from sight.

Live venues were everywhere and major bands could be seen regularly. The Australian music scene could not have been healthier.

Review of the 80s

The 80s was epitomised by bad fashion, bad hair dos and Stadium Rock ie the epic sounding rock bands such as Bon Jovi (debut album 1984), Journey, Def Leppard, Motley Crue, Whitesnake, Foreigner, Aerosmith, Van Halen and REO Speedwagon.

New Romantic became a successful genre with English bands Duran Duran, Culture Club, Spandau Ballet, Simple Minds, ABC, Flock of Seagulls and Thompson Twins.

The consolidation of Metal with the arrival of Metallica(1983). Others to emerge Iron Maiden (1980), Pantera(1983), Slayer(1983), Megadeath(1985), Sepultura (1986),

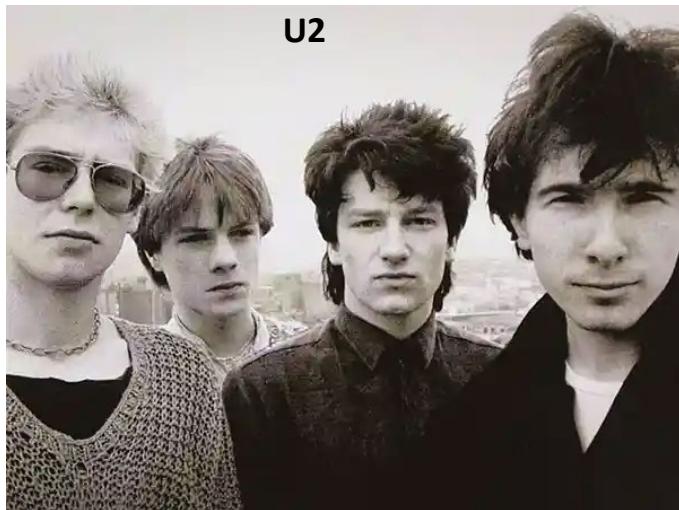

The continued success of Billy Joel opening up the year with “Glass Houses”, Bob Seger “Against The Wind”, Bruce Springsteen “The River”, Dire Straits “Makin Movies” – 3rd album, Joan Armatrading “Me Myself I” – 6th album, Elton John – 14th album, Eric Clapton, John Cougar Mellencamp – 4th album, Roxy Music “Flesh and Blood” – 7th album and penultimate album, Talking Heads 3rd album “Remain in Light”, The Police 3rd album “Zenyatta Mondatta”, ACDC Back in Black – 8th and most successful album.

Fleetwood Mac, Genesis, Jimmy Buffett, Queen, Santana, The Rolling Stones, Michael Jackson had continued success.

Prolific artists Neil Young and Van Morrison (both releasing about 9 albums per decade) Neil’s most recent album was last year (2025) and Van’s was also last year (2025).

The Rolling Stones continue to release albums (about 6 in the 80s) and tour regularly.

U2 debut album "Boy" 1980, Pretenders(1980 – debut album)

60s/70s bands still releasing albums include The Moody Blues, Yes, Santana, Pink Floyd, Jethro Tull, Fleetwood Mac, Grateful Dead, Genesis, Steve Miller Band, The Rolling Stones, Chicago, King Crimson, Queen, Bee Gees, The Doobie Brothers

Jefferson Airplane(1965-1973, 1989, 1996 – 10 albums and always with original members), to Jefferson Starship(1974 – 1984, 1992 – present 11 albums and still with some original members) to simply Starship (1984 to present – 4 albums no original members)

60s/70s Solo Artists Paul Simon, Paul McCartney, John Lennon, Neil Diamond, Linda Ronstadt, Rod Stewart, John Denver, Joe Cocker, Jimmy Buffett, Jackson Browne, Eric Clapton, Bruce Springsteen, Bob Dylan, Steve Winwood, Van Morrison, Elton John, Barbra Streisand, David Bowie, Neil Young.

Hip Hop legends NWA release their first album in 1987.

All boy bands start to make their appearance, initially with New Kids on the Block in 1986.

Motown was sold to MCA Records in the mid 80s.

Artists like The Temptations, Four Tops, Gladys Knight and the Pips from the 60's would continue to release albums .

Stevie Wonder would remain one of the labels more prominent artists. Stevie was a Motown artist from his first album in 1962 to his last album in 2005.

Lionel Richie (from Commodores) would become a major solo act on Motown label in the 1980s.

Stock Aiken and Waterman (S.A.W.) break out as a songwriting/production house. Artists would include : Bananarama(Songs initially by Jolley & Swain then S.A.W. - 1983), Rick Astley (1987 – S.A.W) , Kylie Minogue(1988 S.A.W.), Mel and Kim (1987 S.A.W.)

Kylie Minogue on her way to international fame (predominantly the UK)

Finally the CD becomes THE medium for music (records and tapes begin to phase out).

First album to be released on CD was Billy Joel's "52nd Street" in 1982.

Record companies thought this would end people taping records (lost revenue), instead it was the beginning of the end.

Software developers invented programs that would exactly duplicate CDs. CD burning became a thing on computers and over time CD sales plummeted.

People say however that records are sonically better than CDs.

Review of the 90s

In general the 90s was defined by the rise of grunge and alternative rock Nirvana, Soundgarden, Mudhoney, silverchair, Hole.....

Alongside this came the settling of hip hop into mainstream NWA, Cypress Hill, OutKast, Bone Thugs-n-Harmony....

The resurgence of all girl/boy bands

Spice Girls (1994 Ginger Spice – Geri Halliwell, Baby Spice – Emma Bunton, Scary Spice – Mel B, Sporty Spice – Mel C, Posh Spice – Victoria Adams/Beckham), Take That (1992 - Robbie Williams), Boyzone(1995 – Ronan Keating), Human Nature (1996), Backstreet Boys(1996), NSYNC(1997 - Justin Timberlake), Westlife(1999 - Brian McFadden)

In addition, electronic music was growing in popularity, mostly dance, and in particular the so-called DJ and guest vocalists egg David Guetta, Calvin Harris, The Chainsmokers, Daft Punk, Avicii, Swedish House Mafia, Tiesto, Mark Ronson.

Also, Mariah Carey launched her debut album in 1990.

Nirvana released “Never mind” in 1991 featuring the single “Smells Like teen Spirit”. This album and Grunge (Seattle Sound) would change the music industry forever. A low budget album ($65,000) that toppled Michael Jackson’s “Dangerous” (cost $10 million) from the number one spot. This would impact not only budgets for albums but would have a flow on effect for recording studios with many closings and their charges having to drop.

Further with the development of more affordable, high quality digital recording software, the home studio became realisable and dance music/hip hop became more popular. Young people began developing this at home using samples.

July 1994 saw the release of the first mp3 encoding software I3enc. Another nail in the coffin for music sales. This software compressed the original song to a tenth of its size. The compression algorithm took into account what the ear and brain would process and removed elements that would not be readily detected as missing, especially when played on car radios.

By the end of the decade platforms like Napster came into being allowing people to download music for free. This was still essentially pirating and eventually led to court cases but nevertheless it opened the door to the concept of streaming. Another problem for CD sales.

With the advent of the 2000's female artists became the dominant force

Pink, Taylor Swift, Katy Perry, Jennifer Lopez, Beyoncé, Dua Lipa, Billie Eilish, Lady Gaga, Christine Aguilera, Alicia Keys, Amy Winehouse, Norah Jones, Kelly Clarkson, Miley Cyrus, Mariah Carey, Gwen Stefani, Ariana Grande, Britney Spears, Rihanna, Lana Del Rey, Dido, Fergie, Celine Dion, Shania Twain, Shakira, Avril Lavigne, Adele, Trisha Yearwood, Selena Gomez, Halsey, Sia, Carly Rae Jepsen, Lizzo, Demi Lovato, Charlie XCX, Meghan Trainor, Mya, Nicki Minaj, Rita Ora, Kesha, Aaliyah, Lorde etc

Other singers from the previous decades still maintaining a profile include

Madonna, Cher, Dolly Parton, Gloria Estefan, Barbra Streisand, Bette Midler, Diana Ross

Newer female artists Sabrina Carpenter, Olivia Rodrigo, Ava Max, Doja Cat, SZA, Chappell Roan, Tate McRae, Ice Spice, DoeChii, Kali Uchis, Glorilla, Tyla, Pink Pantheress, Karol G, Raye, Kenya Grace
